Very rare vintage Tatung Einstein Computer

Description

Rare UK manufactured computer dating from 1984. Unusually for the time this computer had double floppy disc drives. Probably only appeal to a collector, or hobbyist.

It uses an ordinary TV for a monitor and when I last checked about 3 months ago everything was working. There are no discs or language discs but these can be obtained cheaply on the internet - a BBC basic disc is around £6.

it is boxed, with the original polystyrene inserts but the outside of the box is well worn as can be seen.

Best offer over £25

Some background Information:

The Tatung Einstein was an eight-bit home/personal computer produced by Taiwanese corporation Tatung, designed in Bradford, England at Tatung's research laboratories and assembled in Bridgnorth and Telford, England. It was aimed primarily at small businesses.
